

Authorized Home Energy Assessors in Our Diocese

Updated October 24, 2023

A very important first step in moving towards carbon neutrality in homes—and, of course, in businesses and houses of worship—is to gain information. Having an energy assessment done on the property is the tried and true way to accomplish this.

The list below includes every home energy auditing resource operating in Western Oregon. The Oregon Department of Energy, along with its quality assurance partner Earth Advantage, manages the authorization of Home Energy Assessors and maintains a list of professionals who have completed the required steps in the authorization process.

You'll notice that the majority of the companies listed offer assessments only in the Portland area and its environs. Scattered among them however, you'll find twelve companies that also, or exclusively, operate in the central and southern Willamette Valley, along the coast, and in Southern Oregon.
